Dear Mrs. Cochrane,

An American gentleman who saw some of my husbands pictures urged me to write to you. He thought I should do so in my own interest - still more, in the interest of art and the gallery you have so nobly set the way and presented to Washington. When Mrs. Wright died, eight years ago, I found I held never turn to the right or to the left, until I succeeded in giving a history of his art, through his works as far as I could do, to the world. Of course I was laughed at, the mere idea - as I hushed quickly

My Solicitor help me, he said it was preposterous — Howitt, after eight years of indefatigable work, day & night, had had a large measure of success, beyond what I dared hope for to come. I did not own one of Mr. Wright's pictures when he died & he had commissions for five years - but, from a heavy misfortune, the failure of a bank as well - the way was very difficult - even to trace, to claim them to meet payments, this mostly through my own hard work. Writing &c - I have now brought together nearly a hundred of his works. I had a most successful exhibition of them in London, in Brighton & in Liverpool Walker Art Gallery where I lent the collection.

that Mr. Mignot's art would always increase in value, & not have a backward tendency, because it was such high art, & far ahead of the times. I have been very ill for six months my mother whom I had the care of has been very ill for three years, & after six months painful suffering, died lately, and my dear boy just 14, 6 ft. & 13 years ago, was so threatened with his lungs, I had to send him to Australia & back as the only sure means Doctors suggested to retain his health. I have passed a sad, sad life & the hill I've had my battles to fight & the hill seemingly to climb ever since I was a little girl, & now I am left alone with my dear boy & my work & my pencil & brush my only friends. I have had to struggle for bread & butter for myself & my dear boy & to help my husband & to help my dear boy to begin his career in life. My heart seemed broken when my dear boy & I got the cablegram to say dear Papa was no more, & now my dear boy is left alone with me. Darling as he is, he is very much wanting in practical knowledge, the only redeeming features in his character is his wonderful advance in his art, & his wonderful technicalities, the very dear boy is beautiful & his face is a study of expression he has grown to be very handsome & his constitution is splendid, & his health which

Dear Sir

On reply to your favor of the 6th inst, On receipt of the Batteries we will put them in complete working order and return the same promptly, The object of having two Batteries was to have always on hand a duplicate in good condition to supply the place of the one in use whenever it required repairs, When a Battery is put in fresh, we test, to find the lowest number of lamps required to do the lighting and continue to use that number until it fails to light perfectly - Then increase the number not more than one or two at a time, and so on up to so when it fails at that No. Then it should be forwarded to us and the reserve Battery put in use

With Kind regards

Very truly Yours A L Bogart
